

In Loving Memory
of Candace
Canady

Our baby, when you were small you sang the verses "This little light of mine, I'm going to let it shine, this little light of mine, I'm going to let it shine, let it shine, let it shine, let it shine!" Only now did we realize how much your light was going to shine. God blessed your daddy and I with you and you had your fair share of illnesses then cancer struck you at age nine. Once again God blessed us and carried us through and your little light shined brightly for all to see. You were so brave and always carried your precious big smile. Our motto was to pray, kick, cry, scream whatever it took to get our frustrations out then kick back and smile and say "Don't worry be happy!" (Number one song when you were born). We know that you are with our Father in Heaven and happy is exactly what you are without a worry in the world. God has blessed us with the knowledge and peace in our heart that we will see you again one day and until that day just know that Mama and Daddy love you more than life itself. We thank God for the privilege of having over 16 1/2 beautiful years with you.

We would like to say that words cannot express how full our hearts are from the love and concern that has poured out from our hometown and surrounding communities. We have heard from friends and family even as far as from Texas and Washington State. It just overwhelms us that Candace knew and touched so many peoples hearts. At the funeral home I could have stayed there for hours; it was wonderful and so comforting to hear what tales family and friends had to say about Candace or what conversations they last had with her over the last few days. Your comments, hugs, prayers, phone calls, cards, visits, food brought by and contributions has touched us tremendously and once again we remember and know what a wonderful community that we live in. Thank you so much for being patient at the funeral home and coming by. We were very honored that you thought that much of Candace; we knew she liked to talk and had friends but boy we didn't know she liked to talk that much!

We would also like to thank the Class of 2007. You just do not know how proud we felt to have you as Honorary Pallbearers. You even wore Candace's favorite colors! I could imagine her grinning from ear to ear. Many of you were very close to Candace and have showered us with so much love and affection. The door has always been a revolving one here and still will be. You know we love you.

We do so much appreciate and thank everyone that helped out the night of the accident. God bless you. We ask that you please continue to pray for family and friends of Candace as well as those that helped out that night. It is not an easy thing to do whether you are the professional, volunteer or a bystander helping out. It takes a special person to help others and it hurts them just as much; especially when it involves someone they know and love. Once again thank you to everyone for every part you had during these past few weeks. Please know that we have read every card and will cherish them forever and appreciate every phone call and flower.

God bless you.

Love, Randy & Robin & The Family of Candace Canady.
